CHAPTER III.

LEFT to himself for a moment, the colonel heaved a deep sigh. He had a premonition of what was coming and then paced slowly up and down the long hall. In his early youth he had been a soldier under Admiral Vernon with his old and long deceased friend, Lawrence Washington, at Cartagena. Later on he had served under Wolfe at Quebec. A visitor, and a welcome one, too, at half the courts of Europe, he looked the man of affairs he was. In spite of his advanced age he held himself as erect and carried himself as proudly as he had done on the heights of Abraham or in the court of St. Germain.

Too old to incur the hardships of the field, Colonel Wilton had yet offered his services with the ardor of the youngest patriot to his country and pledged his fortune, by no means inconsiderable, in its support. The congress, glad to avail themselves of the services of so distinguished a man, had sent him in company with Silas Denne and Benjamin Franklin as an embassy to the court of King Louis, bearing proposals for an alliance and with a request for assistance during the deadly struggle of the colonies with the hereditary foe of France. They had been reasonably successful in a portion of their attempt at least, as the French government had agreed, though secretly, to furnish arms and other munitions of war through a pseudo mercantile firm which was represented by M. de Beaumarchais, the gifted author of the comedy "Le Mariage de Figaro." The French had also agreed to furnish a limited amount of money. But, more important than all these, there were hints and indications that if the American army could win any decisive battle or maintain the unequal conflict for any length of time, an open and closer alliance would be made. The envoys had dispatched Colonel Wilton from their number back to America to make a report of the progress of their negotiations to congress. This had been done, and General Washington had been informed of the situation.

The little ship, one of the gallant vessels of the nascent American navy, in which Colonel Wilton had returned from France, had attacked and captured a British brig of war during the return passage, and young Seymour, who was the first lieutenant of the ship, was severely wounded. The wound had been received through his efforts to protect Colonel Wilton, who had incautiously joined the boarding party which had captured the brig.

After the interview with congress Colonel Wilton was requested to await further instructions before returning to France, and, pending the result of the deliberations of congress, after a brief visit to the headquarters of his old friend and neighbor, General Washington, he had retired to his estate. As a special favor he was permitted to bring with him the wounded lieutenant, in order that he might recuperate and recover from his wound in the pleasant valleys of Virginia. That Seymour was willing to leave his own friends in Philadelphia, with all their care and attention, was due entirely to his desire to meet Miss Katharine Wilton, of whose beauty he had heard and whose portrait, indeed, in her father's possession, which he had seen before on the voyage, had borne out her reputation. Seymour had been informed since his stay at the Wiltons' that he had been detached from the brig Argos and notified that he was to receive orders shortly to report to the ship Ranger, commanded by a certain Captain John Paul Jones, and he knew that he might expect his sailing orders at any moment. He had improved, as has been seen, the days of his brief stay to recover from one wound and receive another, and, as might have been expected, he had fallen violently in love with Katharine Wilton.

There were also staying at the house, besides the servants and slaves, young Philip Wilton, Katharine's brother, a lad of sixteen, who had just received a midshipman's warrant and was to accompany Seymour when he joined the Ranger, then outfitting at Philadelphia, and Bentley, an old and veteran sailor, a boatswain's mate, who had accompanied Seymour from ship to ship ever since the lieutenant was a midshipman, a man who had but one home, the sea; one hate, the English; one love, his country, and one attachment, Seymour.

Colonel Wilton was a widower. As Katharine came down the staircase, clad in all the finery her father had brought back for her from Paris, her hair rolled high and powdered, the old family diamonds, with their quaint setting of silver, sparkling upon her snowy neck, her fan languidly waving in her hand, she looked strikingly like a pictured woman smiling down at them from over the mantle, but to the sweetness and archness of her mother's laughing face were added some of the colonel's pride, determination and courage. He stepped to meet her and then bent and kissed the hand she extended toward him with all the grace of the old regime, and Seymour, coming upon them, was entranced with the picture.

He, too, had changed his attire and now was clad in the becoming dress of a naval lieutenant of the period. He wore a sword, of course, and a dark blue uniform coat relieved with red facings, with a single epaulet on his shoulder which denoted his official rank. His blond hair was lightly touched with powder and tied after the fashion of active service in a cue with a black ribbon.

"Now, Seymour, since you two trunks have come at last, will you do me the honor to hand Miss Wilton to the dining room?" remarked the colonel, straightening up.

With a low bow Seymour approached the object of his adoration, who after a sweeping courtesy gave him her hand. With much state and ceremony, preceded by one of the servants who had been waiting in attention in the hall and followed by the colonel and lastly by the colonel's man, a stiff old campaigner who had been with him many years, they entered the dining room, which opened from the rear of the hall. The table was a mass of splendid plate, which sparkled under the soft light of the wax candles in candelabra about the room or on the table, and the simple meal was served with all the elegance and precision which were habitual with the gentleman of as fine a school as Colonel Wilton.

The object of his adoration gave him her hand.

At the table, instead of the light and airy talk which might have been expected in the situation, the conversation assumed that grave and serious tone which denoted the imminence of the emergency.

The American troops had been severely defeated at Long Island in the summer and since that time had suffered a series of reverses, being forced steadily back out of New York after losing Fort Washington and down through the Jerseys, relentlessly pursued by Howe and Cornwallis. Washington was now making his way slowly to the west bank of the Delaware. He was losing men at every step, some by desertion, more by the expiration of the terms of their enlistment. The news which Colonel Wilton had brought threw a trail of hope over the situation, but ruin stared them in the face, and unless something decisive was soon accomplished the game would be lost.

Old Quarrel Terminates Fatally.
Lexington, Va., June 6.—Edward McCormick, a young farmer of Brownsburg, sixteen miles from here, shot and instantly killed John Wade and Arthur Blackwell. The shooting was the result of bad feeling that has existed between the men for three years. It is asserted that the dead men had been drinking and waylaid McCormick and his father on their way home and stoned them, whereupon young McCormick fired, shooting Wade through the heart and Blackwell through the lungs. McCormick was arrested.

A Nice Point of Law.
Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 6.—Judge Downey has set the time for the hearing of the Gillespie habeas corpus writ for Monday, June 13. On that day James Gillespie will be brought here from Rising Sun to appear. A nice point of law is involved and Judge Downey's decision is awaited with deep interest.

Change in Management.
St. Louis, June 6.—Joseph Florey has tendered his resignation as secretary of the national world's fair commission, to take effect July 1, when he will be succeeded, it is said, by Lawrence H. Grahame, a New York newspaper man.

Death in Runaway Car.
Burlington, Ia., June 6.—A heavily loaded electric streetcar rushed down Valley street hill yesterday afternoon and was wrecked against a shade tree. The passengers jumped as the car flew along, sixteen being badly injured. Mrs. Joseph Keen was killed. Several others had arms and legs broken and many were badly cut about the head and shoulders.

Couldn't Face Misfortune.
Philadelphia, June 6.—W. H. Dorry, aged sixty years, and his wife Lizzie, forty years of age, were found dead at their home last evening, death in each case being due to a bullet wound. It is the belief of the police that Dorry shot his wife and then killed himself. Dorry had been out of employment for some time.

Heart Turned Down in Texas.
Fort Worth, Tex., June 6.—Returns received by the Fort Worth Record from 150 counties that held primaries Saturday in Texas, show that fifty-six counties instructed for Parker, ten for Hearst and the remainder uninstructed. Most of the uninstructed delegates are reported as Parker men.

Use Law as a Cudgel.
Cincinnati, June 6.—A score of hangers were arrested here Sunday for violating the Sunday law. The union voted to close the shops on Sunday. Most of the proprietors objected and many of them were arrested on warrants sworn out by the employees.

Dutch Troops Rout Natives.
Batavia, Java, June 6.—The Netherlands troops have captured a native fortress at Tampering, in the Gajoe country, island of Sumatra. The Dutch losses were thirty-three men killed or wounded. One hundred and seventy-six Achinese were killed.

HANGS IN BALANCE

Russia Will Stand Or Fall By Port Arthur Is the Belief.

OFFICIAL DISSENSION

Generals and Highest Authorities Are Not Agreed On Question of Policy and Strategy.

The Fall of Port Arthur Will Be a Well Nigh Fatal Blow to Russian Hopes.

Tokio, June 6.—The Russian gunboat Giliak was torpedoed and destroyed at Port Arthur Saturday.

Tien Tsin, June 6.—Four thousand Russians belonging to General Stakelberg's brigade on May 31 attacked 1,500 Japanese occupying a position five miles south of Wafangting. The Russians were repulsed, losing 200 killed and 400 wounded. The Japanese lost more than 100 killed.

London, June 6.—That the curtain is drawn again over the progress of the war probably indicates that important events are impending or afoot. The explosions heard at Port Arthur suggest that the Russians have renewed their attempts to remove obstructions in the mouth of the harbor. All kinds of rumors are current, few of which appear to have any reliable basis.

Various special correspondents in St. Petersburg report increasing depression in Russia over the prospect of the fall of Port Arthur, and say that wild reports are in circulation as to dissensions between the generals and the highest officials over questions of policy and strategy. The Daily Mail gives great prominence to a statement "from a Russian correspondent" declaring that Russia will stand or fall by Port Arthur as far as the government's prestige with the lower classes is concerned.

"Internal troubles are inevitable," the correspondent says, "should the fortress fall. Count Lamsdorff displays a strong personality, but his position is precarious and he is likely to be sacrificed as a scapegoat to popular indignation at the way the war has been conducted. Although it is said that General Kuropatkin has lost favor at court, no change in the command of the army is contemplated."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of Reuter's Telegram agency says that increasing anxiety is felt over the restlessness of Chinese troops on the Manchurian frontier. The Morning Post's correspondent in St. Petersburg goes so far as to say that Russia is preparing to cope with a serious Chinese invasion.

A dispatch to the Standard from St. Petersburg asserts that no preparations have been made to organize a transport service down the great waterways of the Sungari and Amur rivers.

Great indignation is felt over the discovery that several wealthy Russian firms "secretly" assisted in the recent Japanese loan.

A dispatch to the Morning Post from Shanghai says that some of the warships at Port Arthur have been beached and their guns removed to the land works. This Shanghai correspondent also says that Field Marshal Yamagata has been appointed viceroy of the territories Japan has occupied since the war began. This is the only reference today to the statement of the Daily Express Saturday morning that Field Marshal Yamagata had been appointed commander-in-chief of the Japanese army of invasion.

RUSSIANS RETREAT

Japanese Score in Two Brisk Engagements.

Tokio, June 6.—The Japanese and Russian forces located north of Pu Lan Tien, which were in a series of brushes during the early part of last week, had another encounter on Friday near Chu Chia Tsin. On that day the Japanese cavalrymen met the Russians at noon. The Russians numbered 2,000 men and were composed of infantry, detachments of cavalry and artillery. They were pressing the Japanese cavalry when the Japanese assembled their entire force and engaged the enemy. The Russians drew off gradually, and at 5:30 in the afternoon they retired to Telishu. The Japanese suffered four men killed and four wounded in this fighting.

A report has been received here from General Kuropatkin saying that on Friday last a detachment was dispatched from Ai Yang Cheng to the northeast of Feng Wang Cheng to make a reconnaissance toward Chai Matsai. This detachment encountered 600 Cossacks and after a brisk engagement the Russians retreated. General Kuropatkin reports that the Russian loss was heavy. The Japanese suffered one man killed and three wounded.

Giving Out False Impressions.

New Chwang, June 6.—The Russians are printing a newspaper in Chinese at Mukden for the purpose of influencing the natives. The latest copy received at New Chwang says that Japan attempted to float a second loan in America for $3,750,000, but was coldly rejected. Other contents of the paper explains that the Russian loss in the Yalu battle was due to the preponderance of Japanese cavalry and says also that the Russians will soon dictate peace terms in Tokyo and that the leading Japanese statesmen will be reduced to ricksha coolies.

Great Explosions Heard.

Washington, June 6.—The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram from the home government at Tokio bearing on events: Admiral Togo reports that according to a message received by him through wireless telegraphy from the captain of the cruiser Chitose, which was cruising off Port Arthur, four masts, one with wireless telegraphic instruments and a sentry box, were seen on the top of Laoteshan. Great explosions were heard and rising of dense smoke was observed repeatedly in the direction of Port Arthur during Saturday.

Orders Not Yet Sent.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—According to information received here General Kuropatkin has been suffering from a mild attack of typhus fever, but he has now recovered. The general belief is that General Kuropatkin will not advance to the relief of Port Arthur. In any case orders to do so have not yet been transmitted.

Carrier Pigeons in Service.

New Chwang, June 6.—Two carrier pigeons arrived here Sunday from General Stoessel at Port Arthur. The Russians will not divulge the messages carried by the birds, but declare they contain good information, and are very cheerful since the pigeons arrived.

FEARS OF A DEADLOCK

Democratic Leaders Worried About the Power of the Minority.

St. Louis, June 6.—The members of the subcommittee on arrangements for the coming national convention are very busy men these days. All the important details connected with the seating of the great hall have now been completed and minor details are rapidly receiving attention. It is probable that this convention will have a larger delegation than any similar body in the past, if Porto Rico's demand for seats is recognized. As now constituted the national convention will be composed of 954 delegates, elected from the states, the territories, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Alaska. The basis of apportionment for the states is two delegates for each congressional district in the state and four delegates for the two United States senators from each of the states, making four at large. The territories, etc., are allotted six delegates each. There is a possibility that the convention may seat a delegation from Porto Rico or six delegates, in which event the total number of delegates composing the convention will be 1,000.

By the ancient custom of the Democratic party, it requires two-thirds of the convention to nominate a president or vice president. This creates an interesting question which has come in for a good bit of discussion. Should some minority candidate come into the convention with 331 2/3 votes, or—if 1,000 delegates are seated—with 334 votes and should be able to maintain this strength against all assaults, a deadlock would result which might hold the convention for days or indefinitely. With the promise of several candidates before the convention, that one or the other of the minority interests may be able to effectively control a third of the voting strength is not by any means a remote contingency, and the length of the deadlock, in such case, would simply be a question of staying qualities. It is even admitted that the leaders are fearing just such a situation.

Fatal Collision at Sea.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., June 6.—The barge Loberby of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal company was sunk off Vineyard Sound lights ship during a dense fog early Sunday, through a collision with the steamer Tallahassee, Savannah for Boston. Captain Burroughs of the barge was drowned. The Tallahassee was saved from sinking by her water-tight compartments and arrived here last evening. Her passengers were sent to Boston by rail.

Streetcars Do Not Run.

Houston, Tex., June 6.—The utmost quiet prevailed Sunday. No attempt was made to run streetcars. No crowds collected on the streets. It is reported that the company has increased its force of strike breakers by eighty men.

Editorial Association Meeting.

Lafayette, Ind., June 6.—The Northern Indiana Editorial association, which was organized in 1869, will hold its 34th annual meeting in this city on Thursday and Friday, June 16 and 17.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Andrew Carnegie has given $50,000 for the establishment of an English chair at Gothenburg.

Peace has been agreed upon in Santo Domingo, the rival factions having adjusted their differences and agreed to a cessation of hostilities.

The British expedition into Tibet has captured two four-pounders from the enemy and a Lhasa general is reported to have been killed.

Ten men were killed and six injured, 3,000 barrels of whisky destroyed and 3,000 cattle burned to death as the result of an explosion at the plant of the Cornish Distillery Co., at Peoria.

A tornado in the Kiowa and Comanche nations demolished a great number of residences and business houses at numerous small towns and laid waste dozens of farms.

CROWD ROSE UP

Men Who Wanted to See a Bull Fight Wouldn't Be Disappointed.

BURNED THE BUILDING

When the Authorities Stopped Brutal Exhibition the Audience Arose in Its Might.

When It Couldn't Get Its Money Back a Resort Was Made to Flames.

St. Louis, June 6.—Incensed over their failure to see a "genuine Spanish bull fight" which the authorities had ordered stopped, a riot was started in an arena near the World's Fair grounds last evening by a crowd of 2,500 men and boys, who were unable to get their money back, and the building was burned to the ground. Four men were placed under arrest charged with the destruction of property. The crowd, thinking these men were connected with the show, made an attempt to mob them, and in their encounter with the deputy sheriffs a number were roughly handled and some received scalp wounds. The building is said to have cost $25,000. It is a total loss, with no insurance, it is reported.

The initial performance by the company of Spanish bull fighters had been advertised for Sunday, but Governor Dockery, to whom numerous protests had been made, ordered that it should not be allowed to take place. Despite these orders a large crowd assembled in the arena at the advertised time of opening. Before the regular performance a number of cowboys drove in some bulls which they ran around the arena in true wild west style. The crowd soon became tired of this and called for the bull fight.

The announcement was then made that the bull fight would be proceeded with. As the matadors came into the ring a county official handed the announcer a paper informing him that the proposed show could not take place. When this became known to the crowd they leaped into the arena and demanded the return of their money. Falling in this, the crowd went to the office, which was located in a small building outside the arena, and began to stone the structure. This was followed by attempts to burn the arena, which was an immense building constructed of pine. The efforts were finally successful and the whole structure was soon in ruins.

A call was made for the fire department, but the single engine that responded became stuck in the mud and there was nothing to stop the progress of the flames.

DEATH IN FLAMES

Horrible Holocaust Occurs in Peoria Distillery Fire.

Peoria, Ill., June 6.—Fire swept the distillery plant of Corning & Co., Saturday evening, destroying every building in the plant excepting the distillery proper containing the cookers, burning fourteen men and injuring as many more, suffocating 3,000 cattle being fed in the sheds and destroying upward of 30,000 barrels of high-proof spirits. The disaster entails a loss of near a million dollars.

The dead are: John Leppin, Louis Benred, William Finley, Jr., E. Brown, E. Hogan, William Crowl, William Field, John Hobecker, Louis Sach, Jos. Zimmerman, and four unidentified.

The collapse of the eleven-story building created a mass of debris which it will require days to clear. Undoubtedly some persons were burned who will never be accounted for.

Past Differences Forgotten.

Washington, June 6.—In the presence of thousands of former Confederate and former Union soldiers and of numbers of officers of the United States army and the G. A. R., the first formal memorial exercises ever held over the graves in the Confederate section of Arlington cemetery took place Sunday. As the result of a movement initiated by the late President McKinley, the Confederate dead have now been gathered in one large and beautiful circle in the southern part of the cemetery, where the graves have been marked with separate stones, which were yesterday fittingly decorated.

Belonged in Washington.

Washington, June 6.—It is ascertained that Mrs. Nan Patterson, who has been arrested by the police of New York city in connection with the shooting of "Caesar" Young, the turfman, is a Washington girl. Her father, John P. Patterson, is well known in real estate circles of this city. It is stated that Mr. Patterson is in New York looking after his daughter's interests.

Excursionists' Narrow Escape.

Rossville, Ind., June 6.—While running at a high rate of speed a Monon train was wrecked by a defective rail Sunday near here. The engine and baggage car were crushed to pieces and four coaches crowded with excursionists were derailed, but none of the 300 passengers was seriously injured.

Leaves St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 6.—Miss Alice Roosevelt, who has been the guest of St. Louis friends for the last nine days, left for Washington yesterday.

TICKLISH SITUATION

Sultan of Morocco Between Uncle Sam and Raisuli.

Tangier, June 6.—The sultan's authorization to comply with Raisuli's demands cannot be received for a day or two. If the sultan fully acquiesces in the demands the release of the captives may be expected shortly, but that by no means settles the situation, for having twice succeeded in defying Europe and the sultan, Raisuli's success will tempt the tribesmen to further outrages.

The presence of the American fleet affords a temporary feeling of security, but the moment the fleet is withdrawn, unless some permanent form of protection is substituted, the danger will become greater than ever. The European population is most grateful to the Americans for having promptly sent warships. Full confidence is felt that the American government will not withdraw until some guarantee shall have been given that Europe recognizes the situation and demands energetic action.

Changed Their Program.

Lisbon, Portugal, June 6.—It is stated here that the United States cruisers Baltimore, Olympia and Cleveland will not come to Lisbon but will stay at Tangier pending a settlement of the difficulty arising out of the detention of Ion Perdicaris and Cromwell Varley, respectively citizens of the United States and Great Britain by the bandit Raisuli.

Tangier the Object of Attention. Malaga, June 6.—The Spanish battleships Pelayo and Numancia and the armored cruiser Cardinal Cisneros have left here for Tangier, Morocco.

BLIND-FOLD.

Blindfold a woman and she loses all confidence in herself. Her step is slow, hesitating and uncertain. Her hands are raised to ward the imaginary blows which threaten her. When a sick woman seeks the means of health she is often like a woman blindfold. She has no confidence. She cannot tell what her effort will lead to. She turns now to this side and then to the other in uncertainty and doubt.

The sick woman who uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription may do so with absolute confidence. It invites open-eyed investigation. There need be no hesitation in following the hundreds of thousands of women who have found a perfect cure for womanly ills in the use of this medicine.

"Favorite Prescription" cures irregularity and dries weakening drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"With a heart full of gratitude to you for sending out over the land your wonderful medicine I send these few lines, hoping that some poor suffering women will try Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Cora L. Root, of Greenspring Furnace, Washington Co., Maryland. "I had suffered severely from female weakness and had to be in bed a great deal of the time. Had headache, backache, and pain in left side when lying down. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and had not taken two bottles when I was able to be around again and do my work with but little pain. Can now eat anything and it never hurts me any more. Have taken seven bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and one of his 'Compound Extract of Smart-Weed and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' Feeling better every day. My husband says I look better every day."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

BEDFORD and Rising Sun people probably will have one truth firmly impressed on their minds as a result of their respective murder trials, namely, that idle gossip doesn't stand for much when narrated to a grand jury.

It would be well for the metropolitan papers to cease publishing this idle gossip.

THE Parker forces are worried. They see that the chances of the silent New Yorker are on the wane in spite of the Wall street influence. They see that a fight for his nomination means a fight with Bryan, who for two successive campaigns was democracy's peerless leader. That is at least embarrassing from the standpoint of party regularity. The reorganizers are beginning to realize that they are up against a hard proposition. Bryan refuses to be reorganized.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Decorated the Graves of Their deceased Brothers.

Hermion Lodge, No. 44, K. of P. observed memorial day Sunday and decorated the graves of their deceased brothers. At 1 o'clock p. m. a large portion of the membership of the lodge met at Castle Hill and formed in line and marched to Riverview cemetery, led by the Seymour Military Band and Success Company, U. R. K. of P., under command of Capt. G. G. Graessle.

At the cemetery the ritualistic ceremony, which is a beautiful and impressive service, was given by Prof. H. C. Montgomery at the grave of Edward Jackson sr. who was a member of Hermion lodge. Then a triangular wreath was placed on the grave of each departed Knight. In the old and new cemeteries thirty-three Knights of Pythias are buried. This custom of a K. of P. memorial day is an appropriate and beautiful custom and is in keeping with the splendid teachings of Pythianism.

CITIES AND TOWNS

Forbidden to Exceed Debt Limit on Any Pretext.

The supreme court Friday disapproved a scheme for obtaining waterworks in a town by a "dummy" corporation which incurs debts that the town is forbidden to make. Similar schemes have been resorted to for building water and electric light plants in cities and towns all over the state, says the Indianapolis News. The court reversed a judgment of the DeKalb circuit court, which refused to enjoin the town of Waterloo from taking stock in a company organized to furnish water and electric lights for the town and guaranteeing rentals which should pay the interest on the new company's bonds.

Judge Monks, speaking for the court, declared that this was a mere subterfuge for borrowing on the credit of the town, in the name of the corporation owned and controlled by the town, money which the constitution forbade the town itself from borrowing. He says that the constitutional prohibition against incurring debt in excess of 2 per cent of the taxable property in a town or city "is absolutely and unqualifiedly prohibited, no matter what the necessity, pretext or circumstances (except in case of invasion or public calamity) or the form which the debt may assume. It curbs the power of the legislature, the officials and the people themselves."

WORTHY AND WELL QUALIFIED

State Treasurer Hill Has Made a Model State Official.

As State Treasurer, Nat U. Hill, of Bloomington, who was unanimously re-nominated by the Republican state convention for the office he now holds, has amply fulfilled the expectation of his friends, who recognized in his qualities of character and successful business experience a guarantee of great usefulness in the public service. Mr. Hill has brought to the discharge of his duties the characteristic quality of conservative common sense. He has been diligent in conserving the fiscal interests of the state, and as a member of the state finance board has assisted ed in that rapid reduction of the state debt which has come to be a distinguishing feature of Republican administration.

Mr. Hill was well prepared by natural endowment and hard-earned experience for the duties he is now performing. A native of Clay county, he finished his junior year in the literary department of Indiana University and graduated in the law department of that institution in 1876. For two years thereafter he practiced law in Brazil, then located in Bloomington, where he became interested in banking and other business enterprises. He was successively director, vice president and president of the First National Bank of Bloomington. For sixteen years he has served as a trustee of Indiana University, and has been for the past thirty-five years an ardent and useful friend of that institution.

Incidentally Mr. Hill has been active in politics, though up to the time of his candidacy for the nomination as State Treasurer his efforts were exerted exclusively in the interests of his friends. He served as county chairman, district chairman and delegate to the national conventions which nominated General Harrison in 1892 and William McKinley in 1896.

Mr. Cleveland seeks no reason why any Democrat should bolt the nomination of Judge Parker. Mr. Bryan probably considers Mr. Cleveland's example more important than his advice, and while the Nebraska man may not follow the Princeton man's advice, he may follow his example.

Poverty to Wealth

Head of Big Firm Tells How Advertising Brought Success

In a recent article of this series I wrote of a man who had started advertising with $500 and made $500,000.

"Fairy tales," a harness manufacturer said or intimated, "a good story for you advertising agencies."

The only fairy tale is the fact that the advertiser has not made $500,000, but many times as much, and that he started his business, putting his all into newspaper advertising, with a sum much nearer $50 than $500.

This man is R. W. Sears of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Fulton and Desplaines streets, Chicago.

Mr. Sears started in business in Chicago in 1891. He was told that competition in mail order business would be too much for a man without capital, but he had one very plain, simple idea—to put his advertisement into a newspaper not merely to keep the name before the public, but to advertise some particular article at some particularly low price; nothing more. He did this to the extent of about $50, reinvested his profits, eventually getting out a catalogue, and thus built up a business. It is popularly supposed that the business was quite small until 1897, when outside capital was put in. This, however, is not the case, as the firm, having been built up out of nothing, was doing in 1897 a business exceeding that of all but a very few mail order houses. From the first customer received through an advertisement the trade has now grown, Mr. Sears says, to about 2,000,000 live accounts.

The volume of business of Sears, Roebuck & Co. is said to exceed that of any other mail order house in the world, its rival for that position, by the way, being another Chicago concern. This volume, variously estimated at $18,000,000, $20,000,000, $30,000,000 and even more, is a subject of much speculation among other advertisers. I may say authoritatively that the total business for last December was somewhat in excess of $3,000,000, this being the sale for one month alone.

Mr. Sears has been the advertising man for this concern. For the last five years he has been, I believe, the heaviest buyer of newspaper space in the world. His annual investment for space alone, not including any of the incidentals of advertising, is said to be in excess of $500,000.

"You ask my opinion on advertising," Mr. Sears said today. "Well, the longer I am at it the less I feel I know about it. The whole advertising problem resolves itself into a series of experiments—finding your way. I am never through studying and trying out—different ads. and different papers. "Don't misunderstand me. I don't mean that advertising is a gamble. It is the constant, careful, methodical watching of results from every small investment that assures the success in the aggregate.

"It's the fellow with the second wind that wins the race. Many advertisers get cold feet just about the time success would begin to come their way.

"When we advertise we are well-satisfied with returns which the average advertiser would consider a losing venture. We depend upon the ultimate results, the satisfied customer, his permanent trade and the trade of his friends to make our advertisement pay. "While I experiment with the details, it seems to me that this general advertising proposition sifts itself down to very simple principles," Mr. Sears continued.

"Talk United States and deliver the goods. Have something to say, say it and then do exactly as you say you'll do.

"What we want above all is a satisfied customer. We want his permanent trade. To get this we must give the right goods and the right prices.

"My newspaper ads, as you know, are very simple—this sewing machine so much and 'this gun at such and such a price.' Of course I use the ordinary trade talk. I use the strongest language within reason to describe the value of the article. Maybe it is a little strong, but I am careful to avoid palpable or foolish exaggeration, and anyway there's the guarantee—your money back if you want it."—E. T. Gundlach in Chicago Post.

The Last Stroke Counts.

Many an advertisement which apparently does not sell a dollar's worth of goods may do many a dollar's worth of good, for it brings the customers nearer and nearer to the establishment, and the next advertisement may bring them in. "The last stroke makes the horseshoe." The others were merely preparatory.—Benjamin Wood.

Don't Stop Advertising.

No business was ever advertised so extensively that it would carry itself by the momentum it had attained. The fastest express train stops after awhile if the steam is cut off—unless it is going down hill all the way.—Class Advertising.

TESTIMONIAL.

MESSRS. WATSON & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., Agents. March 1, 1904. Dear Sirs:—Replying to your query as to whether I am pleased with the P. P. lighting system which you installed for me fifteen months ago, I will say that it has never given us one minute's trouble nor one dollar's expense. It gives the best light I ever saw for interior use. The actinic rays are of such a character as to make it very desirable when the perfectly natural colors of objects are to be distinguished without confusion.

As to cost of maintenance, I think my experience, based upon close observation, will warrant the statement that it is under $80 per annum, and our store is open every day in the year until 11 o'clock p. m., except on Sunday, one hour less. Under the same condition, and with the most approved facilities for the distribution of light, our bills for illuminating gas were about $200 per year, and for electric light (arcs) about $400 to $420 per annum, and at no time have we had more than one-half the light we now have.

I am particularly pleased with the light, and the fact that it is so economical makes it the more desirable. As you can readily figure, I paid for my apparatus and cost of light in about four or five months. Yours truly, R. L. EADS.

I. O. O. F. SPECIAL MEETING.

Class of Twenty Initiated Last Saturday Night.

The Odd Fellows of this city held a special meeting Saturday night that was one of the most interesting and largely attended demonstrations in the history of the local lodge. The purpose of the occasion was the initiation of a class of twenty candidates and their advancement through the three degrees of Odd Fellowship.

A delegation of Odd Fellows from Louisville numbering forty-two came out to see the work and with the intention of conferring the second degree, but owing to some misdirection at Louisville the paraphernalia of the degree staff did not arrive and they were obliged to disappoint the members.

The initiatory was conferred by the Brownstown lodge and the work of their degree staff was highly appreciated by every member present. Seymour degree staff then took up the work and conferred the first, second and third degrees. Their work was enthusiastically received and sustained their reputation as one of the best degree staffs in the state.

Besides the visitors from Louisville there were many present from neighboring towns and in all the attendance was about 450.

At the conclusion of the work an elegant lunch was at the Masonic banquet hall. The meeting was a decided success and visitors were loud in their praise of Seymour Odd Fellows.

Madison Badly Licked by the Seymour Reds.

Madison has been putting up a lot of talk about her base ball club, but after the game with the Seymour Reds Sunday, the players themselves may conclude that they have been overrated. They were clearly outclassed and at no time did they have the least show of winning. The Madison battery did fairly good work but their support was ragged. They need a whole season's practice before they attempt to go against such players as the Reds.

The Reds are playing a strong game this year. The battery work of Walker and Clegg Sunday was up to the standard. The score in this game with Madison was 17 to 2 in favor of the Reds.

John Q. Foster's horse took fright
Sunday at Dr. James Carter's automobile and ran away. The horse had been driven to Beech Grove and was hitched in front during the Sunday school hour. Dr. Carter and Oscar Carter came past in the automobile, which was something new to the horse.
He broke loose, upset the buggy and ran about a half mile. The buggy was mangled and the horse received several bruises.

CRUSHES OUT THE LIFE

The most loathsome and repulsive of all living things is the serpent, and the vilest and most degrading of all human diseases is Contagious Blood Poison. The serpent sinks its fangs into the flesh and almost instantly the poison passes through the entire body. Contagious Blood Poison, beginning with a little ulcer, soon contaminates every drop of blood and spreads throughout the whole system. Painful swellings appear in the groins, a red rash and copper colored spots break out on the body, the mouth and throat become ulcerated, and the hair and eye brows fall out; but these symptoms are mild compared to the wretchedness and suffering that come in the latter stages of the disease when it attacks the bones and more vital parts of the body. It is then that Contagious Blood Poison is seen in all its hideousness. The deep eating abscesses and sickening ulcers and tumors show the whole system is corrupted and poisoned, and unless relief comes soon this serpent disease fights its coils and crushes out the life. The only antidote for the awful virus is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy, composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. destroys every vestige of the poison, purifies the blood and removes all danger of transmitting the awful taint to others. Nothing else will do this. Strong mineral remedies, like mercury and potash, dry up the sores and drive in the disease, but do not cure permanently. Send for our home treatment book and write us if in need of medical advice or special information. This will cost you nothing.

CURIOUS THINGS FROM CHINA

The Most Magnificent Beds Ever Seen Are Part of the Celestial Empire's World's Fair Exhibit.

The Chinese exhibit at the World's Fair is filled with pleasing surprises. Some of the most magnificent articles of furniture are a part of this wonderful display. The carving and inlaying of ivory, bone and wood illustrate the marvelous skill of the Chinese.

Models included in this interesting exhibit show the homes and home life of the Chinese, their weddings and funerals, Chinese tea house, restaurant and shop, Chinese weaving and some of the beautiful silks and wearing apparel of the Chinese and their methods of manufacturing them.

One feature of the exhibit is two magnificent Chinese beds, each of which has the appearance of being a small house of great beauty. One is a summer bed, the other for winter. The summer bed is hand carved and inlaid with ivory and bone figures and landscapes exquisitely carved and so skillfully joined as to appear a part of the wood. The bed and furniture are of carved bamboo. The bed consists of an anteroom, with tables, chairs and tea stands, and in an inner room, which is the sleeping apartment, there is a couch with coverings of gauzy silks.

The winter bed is still more elaborate. It consists of three compartments. The first contains four chairs, a tea tray and a chest of drawers. This is the sitting apartment. The second is the dressing room, and the third is the sleeping apartment, or the couch itself. The furniture is of rosewood inlaid with ivory carving of birds, flowers and trees. The couch is covered with silks of the finest texture and in gaudy colors. The sleeping compartments are lighted with Chinese lanterns of silk hung at the outer entrance, while the light enters through gauze panels, hand painted and in forms of rosewood inlaid with ivory figures.

A table and dish made of highly polished ash, with exquisitely carved bamboo figures inlaid, are shown. The work is so artistically done that each article seems to have been made of one piece of wood.

There is also a large display of Chinese lanterns made of silk, gauze and other light material and some made of beads artistically arranged with glass centers. The silk and gauze are beautifully hand painted.

There are models of some of the great Chinese temples, theaters and arches, showing elaborate carving in wood and ivory and two large elephant tusks exquisitely carved.

WHARFAGE FREE AT ST. LOUIS

Twenty Miles of River Front For Water Craft at World's Fair City.

Free wharfage will be given to all boats landing at St. Louis during the World's Fair. Traffic Manager Hilary of the Exposition and Joseph P. Whyte, harbor and wharf commissioner of St. Louis, have decided on the locations assigned to the various kinds of boats.

Yachts, steam launches and all boats propelled by their own power have been assigned wharf space between Chouteau avenue and Biddle street. These streets, running east and west, form the boundary lines for the central business district of the city.

House boats have been assigned wharf space north of Biddle street and south of Chouteau avenue.

St. Louis has a river front of twenty miles. The Broadway line of the Transit company parallels the river from the city limits on the north to Jefferson Barracks on the south. At no point are the cars more than five blocks from the Mississippi river. The World's Fair may be reached for one fare by transferring to any of the eight lines that cross Broadway and reach the Exposition grounds.

No charge will be made for wharfage. Application for space should be made to the harbor and wharf commissioner at the City Hall, on Twelfth street, between Market street and Clark avenue.

A DIFFICULT POINT

"Excess Vote" Rule Does Not Seem to Be Generally Understood.

Indianapolis, June 6.—It will perhaps be a long time before the Republican state committee gets through interpreting the new code of rules it promulgated some time ago. Of course there is no more controversy over the "excess vote rule," but the fact that a majority of the counties in a joint legislative district can't rule when there is one protest does not seem to appeal to everyone. The latest contest is reported from the senatorial district of Warren, Benton and Fountain counties, which Fremont Goodwine of Williamsport has been representing. Perry Lewis of Covington, a member of the last house was a candidate before the district was changed by the decision of the supreme court holding the reapportionment act unconstitutional. Then Goodwine entered the fight. It seems that he has lined up Benton and Warren counties, which gives him a majority, and they have called a convention. Fountain county is protesting on behalf of Lewis, and the matter will have to be decided by Chairman Goodrich.

A well-known Republican leader made the statement today that the Indiana delegation to the Chicago convention will make no public attempt to boom Senator Fairbanks for the vice presidential nomination, as the members will go there understanding that he prefers such a course. He said that the senator is very anxious that no effort be made by Indiana to put him forward for second place. He does not want the impression created that he is in any sense a candidate, for it is stated here that under no circumstances will he permit the use of his name if there is to be a contest. As the date for the convention approaches interest in the part Indiana will take becomes deeper. It is generally believed now that the nominee for vice president will be an Indianan, which as a matter of course will be Senator Fairbanks, yet owing to his own reserved attitude there is much speculation as to what will be done. The interest is naturally heightened in Indiana because the nomination of Senator Fairbanks for vice president would result in a very hard fight for his present position.

A report that Senator Fairbanks has informed certain Republican leaders here that he will accept the nomination for vice president and that Congressman James A. Hemenway is now en route to Washington as a bearer of the news to advisers of President Roosevelt, is regarded generally by party leaders as one of the worst "pipe stories" of the last month. That Senator Fairbanks has not been talking to anyone here in a way that would reassure them that he would accept the nomination for president is generally conceded and one said he knew that it is not true that Congressman Hemenway has been made the bearer of such tidings to Washington, for Mr. Hemenway, he declared, told him that he did not learn anything from Senator Fairbanks regarding the vice presidency. A lot of "pipe" is being written about Senator Fairbanks, but he is maintaining the same attitude he took when his boom was started.

The political gossips who were informed yesterday that Louis P. Benau of Salem will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer are wondering if it will not keep Warder W. Stevens out of the race for governor. Stevens also resides at Salem, and while he has not indicated that he would accept the nomination even if it came by acclamation, yet it is stated that he has been quietly conferring with the men who will shape the convention. But if the Democrats of Salem should present the name of Benau it is already pointed out that it would not be good policy for them to present Stevens, and as Benau is already in the field it is likely that he will receive first consideration.

Found No Indictment.—Bedford, Ind., June 6.—The grand jury investigating the Schafer murder case has adjourned without returning an indictment. By the adjournment of this term of court the present grand jury expires, but if any important clue develops it is stated that Judge Wilson will call a special grand jury in the vacation to hear it.

Warsaw and the Assembly Ground Will Be Decorated In Sumptuous Style For the Veterans.

The Nights Will Be Made Spectacular With Electrical and Pyrotechnic Effects.

Warsaw, Ind., June 6.—Warsaw and Winona are making great preparations to entertain the delegates and visiting veterans of the civil war during the three days' encampment of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, June 14 to 16 inclusive. The plans for decorating both places are on a magnificent scale, and the electrical illuminations and fireworks display each night of the encampment will make both points a scene of splendor. A feature of the first night's program will be a Mardi Gras parade, with brass bands and fireworks accompaniment. Several hundred persons en masque will participate.

The twenty-fifth annual encampment will be composed of delegates to the number of 1,700—a larger delegate body than the department has ever had, owing to the fact that each past post commander is entitled to a voice in the meeting. The principal sessions will be held in the Winona auditorium.

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

corrects irregularities and cures Kidney and Bladder diseases in every form, tones up the whole system, and the diseases that have resulted from disordered Kidneys disappear, because the cause has been removed. Commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at the first sign of danger. Do not risk having Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.
Mr. Robert Q. Burke, Elmore, Saratoga Co., N. Y., writes:—I am glad to have an opportunity of telling what magnificent results I have had from using FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE after having tried other advertised medicines and several physicians. Before I began it I had to get up from 12 to 20 times each night to relieve my bladder. I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. In fact, I was so badly used up that I had given up hope of living when I was urged by a friend to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the superfluous flesh had gone, as well as all other symptoms of kidney trouble. My friends were surprised that I was cured, as they all thought I was going to die. Every few days some one comes from miles away to learn the name of the wonderful medicine that cured me of Bright's Disease, and not one that has tried it has failed to be benefited.

Two Sizes, 50 Cents and $1.00.
